If twenty-four equally generous men will come fortward, or "down," with $5.00 subscriptions the Earnard College people will have to raise only $55,000 for the ground for the new buildings, and they are sanguine of doing so. And not without reason, it was reported at yesterday's meeting that Miss Emily O. Gibbs, of Newport, had sent $1,000 to the building fund, and that $5,000 had been contributed amonymously. ### REACTION IN THE COTTON MARKETS.

JOHN H. INMAN GIVES HIS VIEWS ON THE OUT-LOOK FOR THE GREAT AMERICAN STAPLE.

The cotton markets were "off" again yesterday, both here and in Liverpool. Quotations receded 10 to 12 points, or about 20 points below the highest reached on the bulge. The reaction was expected, though heavy receipts made it a little sharper than was counted on. Manchester spinners continued free buyers, taking 12,000 bales. The active buils said that Southern buyers were still short of actual cotton to the Eastern mills and to exporters, and that this accounted for the large re-They predicted a marked falling off in re-Mr. Inman relterated his opinion that the next crop will not exceed 7,750,000 bales. He said:

Preparations for planting the next crop are very backward this year, and as the planting must be completed by May I at least, the situation in this respect is far from encouraging. As regards the condition of the planters, I may state that they are so greatly discouraged that their mental and physical condition is much run down. Their stock is not in such good condition as last year, and owing to their distressing financial situation, the shipments of mules for farming purposes to the South this year will not exceed 2,000, whereas the shipments last year were 20,000. Regarding the consumption of fertilizers. I do not attach much importance to this matter.

At Manchester the stocks held by spinners were small, while at Liverpool there is an average stock, which, however, does not belong to English spinners, but is controlled to a considerable extent by people who have bought for investment. With the rise in silver and prospects of an early termination of hostilities between China and Japan, Manchester will not hesitate to supply herself more freely with cotton.

If William Tabler, formerly connected with the Equitable Life Assurance Society, develops sufflclent courage to write a challenge for mortal com-bat, and if Marcus Schnitzer, the president of the Hungarian Society, decides that Mr. Tohler is competent to hold a loaded gun, there may be a duel but he has promised to send a written one, and Mr. ler's record. Mr. Schnitzer hopes that Mr. Tahler will choose meat-hooks or axes for the combat, for he says that Tahler is said to be unacquainted with a gun. If necessary to oblige Mr. Tahler, Mr. Schnitzer will consent to cannons at a five-foot range, for he thinks that that is the only weapon Tabler can use with any chance of hitting the THE MAYOR SAYS THE CARS SHOULD NOT GO AS

The trouble between the two men is of long standing and has to do with a fuss they had over an advertisement which Tahler inserted several years ago in a paper in which Schnitzer was interested. Tabler asserted at the time that his advertisement had been obtained under false preences, but he did nothing then and soon went to Mexico. A few days ago he returned, and on Thursday he met Schnitzer at No. 38 Broadway. When he saw him he accused him of breaking faith to this in the way which is customary when a man believes something is not so which has been said about him. Tabler then said:
"I challenge you to a combat on the field of honor."

"I challenge you to a combat on the nead of honor."

Mr. Schnitzer laughed at this and sang out his willingness to fight, and he wanted to settle it there, but his friends restrained him.

When seen yesterday in his office, at No. 120 Broadway, Mr. Schnitzer said: "It is true that Mr. Tahler and I have had some difficulty and that he demands satisfaction. I have not heard from him since yesterday, and whether he will send a challenge or not I do not know or care. You know it is a misdemeanor to send a challenge to fight a duel. It is not, however, a misdemeanor to receive a challenge. If Tahler is anxious to fight and challenges me, and I find he is a gentleman worthy of battle, I will fight him. I insuited him, and if he demands satisfaction, why, I am ready to give it. Only I will not fight a man beneath me.

TRUNKS FOR BICYCLES. From The Chicago Record.

From The Chicago Record.

The bicycle trunk is the latest convenience demanded by an up-to-date wheelman.

The bicycle trunk resembles a Saratoga that has been put under a hydraulle press and flattened out like a pareake. It stands on one edge and is only a few inches wide.

Before the wheel is put into the trunk for shipping the handle-bar and pedals are removed. These can be placed in small compartments along the walls of the trunk.

A factory on the north side is turning out bicycle trunks in large numbers, and they have become as much a part of the stock-in-trade at any trunk store as sample-cases or leather valless.

A bicycle which is packed in a trunk may be checked as baggage. The trunks are in general use by the salesmen of bicycle houses and have been ordered by nearly all of the racers.

Wheels which are sent unpacked in baggage cars are always liable to be "stove up" or broken, so that the racers carry their wheels in trunks for protection as well as for economy.

The trunks are built to endure rough treatment, and they cost from 10 unward each.

CHAUNCEY M. DEPEW TO ADDRESS A PUBLIC MEETING IN ITS INTEREST TO-MORROW EVENING-SOMETHING ABOUT .

THE INSTITUTION. Chauncey M. Depew will address a public meeting in the interest of Atlanta University at the Broad-way Tabernacle to-morrow evening. President

Burnstead, of the university, will make a statemen of its work for the higher and technological education of colored youth, and Butler R. Wilson, one of its graduates, will also address the meeting. The work of the institution is especially important because it turns out students who in turn be teachers of their race. Atlanta University is a Christian institution, unsectarian, and receiving n public or society grant. It has college, normal and college preparatory courses. It is chartered for "the Christian education of youth," without distinction, but present conditions limit its work almost wholly to negroes. Industrial training (suspended this year from lack of funds) is usually given to the boys in carpentry, blacksmithing, mechanical and architectural drawing and printing; and to the girls in cooking, sewing, dressmaking, printing, nursing the sick and general household science. All students pay tuition, those in the college course $2, all others $1 50 a month. Boarding students pay $10 a month for their board, room, fuel, lights and a month for their board, room, fuel, lights and washing. They also give an hour of productive labor every day to the institution.

Tuition scholarships of $40 annually are needed for all students, to meet the actual cost of instruction in excess of the tuition fees. These scholarships do not add the student to pay his charges to the institution, but they enable the institution to make the charges low enough for the majority of the students to pay. An endowment fund of $50,000 would provide for the present work so as to render tuition scholarships unnecessary, and contributions to such an endowment are earnestly solicited.

An income of at least $25,000 annually is needed from tuition scholarships, and general subscriptions to maintain the present unendowed work. Usually $20,000 a year is raised in the North, but the subscriptions have fallen off recently.

The case grew out of a collision between the carriage of Mr. Spaulding and Mr. Remington's buckboard on February 23 last. Mr. Remington sued Mr. Spaulding for damages to the buckboard, alleging that Spaulding's coachman was respon-sible for the collision. On the other hand Mr. Spaulding said that Mr. Remington's driver was alone responsible for the accident. When the case was heard on Tuesday night before the Justice there was a big crowd in court, neighbors interested parties. The testimony was conflicting.
Mr. Remington's coachman testified that on the morning of the collision he drove his employer to the station to catch the early morning train for when Mr. Spaulding's carriage came along at a fo Spauding was inside the carriage. He said he was going to one side of the road, but was deliberately run into by Mr. Spauding's coachman. He was thrown into the road and the buckboard was upset. Mr. Spauding put in a defence just the opposite, and blamed the coachman of Mr. Remington for the accident. The amount of the bill for which Mr. Remington sued Mr. Spauding for repairs was 16 59. Justice Swinburne gave him the full verdict against Spauding, with 13 25 costs. It is said that the case will be appealed.

BOYS' CHANCES.

Good taste clothes for boys-and we never gave so much for so little money—nine dollars and a half is now the price for $14 and $15 suits. And three dollars for $6 and $7 suits for youngsters. At B'way and Canal St.

At both stores is a special sale of men's imported gloves; seventy-five cents a pair.

PATENT IN THE NEW LINERS INVOLVED. Testimony was taken yesterday by W. C. Dunn, Lundborg, a naval designer, against W. Cramp & Son, of Philadelphia, for alleged intringement of Mr. Lundborg's patents. The suit is brought in the United States Circuit Court of Philadelphia, and is to recover $38,000. Mr. Lundborg alleges that the Cramps have adopted his patents, of extended halis, for steamships, which encase and protect their shafts, on their two new steamships for the American Line, which are to run from this port to Southampton. The testimony taken was purely technical.

A TERRIBLE CASE.

From The Cincinnati Tribune. "I told you you would be seeing snakes if you didn't stop," said the physician.
"Snakes" shrieked the sufferer, his teeth chattering: 'snakes are not in it at all. I wouldn't mind snakes. I see modern art posters.
And the trembling victim buried his head in the bedelothes and shrieked and moaned and gibbered.
